Checklist Description

This checklist includes a list of everyday activities that are sources of learning opportunities for infants and very young children functioning below 15 to 18 months of age. The activities are a mix of things that children get to be involved in as part of everyday family and community life, things parents and children do together, things children become involved in because of adult interests and activities, and things that simply happen day-in and day-out as part of everyday living. The checklist is used to identify activities that are interest-based and would provide your child opportunities to learn and practice many different kinds of skills and behaviors. Simply follow the steps described below to make your child's learning full of wonderful possibilities.

Using the Checklists

Step 1. Identifying a Child's Interest. Start by making a list of all the things, people, places, and activities that interest your child. "What does your child enjoy doing?" "What gets your child excited?" "What does your child prefer or like to do?" "What makes your child laugh or smile?" "What does your child choose to do most often?" "Who does your child prefer to be with?" List your child's interests in the space provided on the next two pages.

Step 2. Completing the Checklist. Keep in mind your answers to the Step 1 questions. Go through the lists of activities on the next two pages, and check the activities that provide or could provide your child opportunities to use or express his or her interests. Add activities that are not included on the checklists that are important to your family or happen because of where you live and which are or would be interesting to your child. Don't overlook tag along activities that would include opportunities for interest-expression.

Step 3. Selecting Interest-Based Learning Activities. Go back through the list of activities you checked, and circle those activities that do or could happen often for your child and which best match your child's interests. The best activities are ones that provide lots of opportunities for a child to do things (s)he is interested in doing as well as learn new things.

Step 4. Develop an Action Plan. The last page of the checklist includes one way you can be sure you and your child can take advantage of all the learning possibilities that are part of your everyday family and community life. Simply complete each section and you will have a useful plan for providing your child interest-based everyday learning opportunities.

Expanding Your Child's Learning Opportunities

Now that you have selected the best activities for everyday child learning, the next step is to use this information to provide your child lots of opportunities to use his or her interests to do things (s)he is able to do and to learn new things. The following is a helpful way for providing your child interest-based learning opportunities.
